"Introduction to APL"

APL2000 is offering a specially priced "Introduction to APL" training class to be held October 12-14 in New York City.

This comprehensive 3-Day APL+Win class is just $850. Current APL+Win Subscription Licensees can apply their Enterprise Coupons towards the cost.

Participants will receive:

- Full documentation and training materials
- A full-featured trial version of APL+Win

Take advantage of this opportunity at this one time only price. Have new or prospective employees learn APL. No prior APL experience is required. All training materials will be provided. Attendees need to bring their own laptop.

This three-day course provides a thorough education in the APL notation, and includes instruction in the primitives, nested arrays, component files, formatting, native files, and more. General and business-specific examples and problems will enable attendees to appreciate and use the full power of APL.

The instructor for this class is Kevin Weaver, Adjunct Instructor of Microcomputer Applications. Kevin is an expert in APL and has been teaching all levels of APL for more than 20 years.

Space is limited - Register Now.

Contact Sonia Beekman at sonia@apl2000.com or 301-208-7150 for more information or to register.